The boy has a grip on St. Nicholas and the old man of the sea on the sailor.

"Well, one can only be a boy once— and not everybody has that privilege. You comes but once a year, and the most satisfactory way to settle the present business is to buy at once, and we would also suggest (but here, perhaps, we are prejudiced) buying presents."

Roberts. He had seen them frequently since then. The children occasionally called for mail for B. H. Roberts. Ray Braden testified in support substantially of the same allegations as those made by his father. Subsequently, Mr. Braden, Sr., testified that the general reputation was that Louisa Roberts is Roberts's first wife, Celia Dibble Roberts his second, and Margaret Shipp Roberts his third wife.

ALL WITNESSES HEARD.
Mr. Schroeder stated that this closed the evidence on hand, and would be all, unless the committee wished further testimony. There were two other gentlemen who testified, and if the committee desired more direct testimony, it could be had only by summoning the women reputed to be wives of Roberts.

Chairman Taylor asked Mr. Roberts whether he desired to follow. He said he had no more to say, and had some documentary evidence he wished to present, and hoped it would arrive to-morrow.

Do you expect to place yourself on the stand? asked Mr. Miers, a member of the committee.
"I do not," replied Mr. Roberts.
At 4 o'clock the committee went into executive session, and decided to hear arguments on January 4th.

COMPLIMENT TO MR. JONES.

He Heads List of Democrats on the Insular Committee.

WASHINGTON, December 19.—(Special.) The appointment of Representative W. A. Jones by the new Speaker, on the Insular Committee, which will, after all, be the most important political committee of the Fifty-sixth Congress, is a distinction that was unexpected by Mr. Jones.

The selection of the membership of this committee has been done with great care, and with a view to making the Republican representation on it as powerful as possible. Of the Republican members of the committee, seven are chairmen of the highest committees in the House, including Cannon, Hepburn, Payne, and other leaders on the floor. The minority is strong, also, and Mr. Jones is flattered by being placed at the head of the Democratic list. This is in striking contrast with the methods of Speaker Reed, whom Mr. Jones once justly accused of having "skunked in a bomb-proof" during the war, and who for this never forgave Mr. Jones.

OTHER VIRGINIA ASSIGNMENTS.
Other assignments of Virginia members are for the most part, unchanged as to the members who served in the Fifty-fifth Congress, Mr. Rixey being on Naval Affairs, Mr. Hay on Military Affairs, Mr. Latham on Agriculture, Mr. Taylor on Expenses, Mr. Epps on Territories, Mr. Quarles on Pacific Railroads, Mr. Young on Militia, Mr. Rhea on Patents, and Mr. Otey on Claims and Immigration.

Mrs. Selridge, the wife of Commander Selridge, and Misses Nina and Susie Selridge, will spend the winter in Richmond.
